WORLD CLASS INNOVATION FOR HIGH-VOLUME KITCHENS SERVING FUSION CUISINE

Inspired by the diversity of Australia's food scene, we wanted to lead the way in supporting commercial cooking across fusion cuisine. By bringing together the right combination of elements, we sought to offer kitchens a solution for keeping up with the industry's ever-changing landscape.

Hence the Verro Range – a premium fusion series where European and Asian appliances meet. It's the first of its kind in the market, and offers superior quality, performance and flexibility.

Using only the best in Australian, German and Italian innovation, it was designed with high-volume kitchens in mind that require efficiency and speed. All Verro units are constructed using AISI 304 grade stainless steel and offer a variety of configurations and combinations, giving the operator fantastic flexibility.

WHY COLOUR?

Your kitchen may be visible to your customers. You may want to photograph it for your website or social media. A magazine or media website may want to photograph it.

Or maybe you just want it to look GOOD – to have a point of difference that makes your venue's kitchen truly unique.

Whatever the reason, Verro's bespoke panels will add an exclusive and contemporary aesthetic to your commercial kitchen.

GENERATIONS OF QUALITY AND RELIABILITY

We're an Australian-owned business who design and manufacture innovative, high quality commercial kitchen equipment - and we've been doing it for over 60 years. Our experience, plus our commitment to excellence, has seen us develop performance-driven kitchen technology that's durable and reliable. Through foresight and determination, we have earned our reputation as leaders in the market.
